Domestic dispatches remained robust in Nov-2025, with passenger vehicles (PVs) registering a robust growth of est. ~18% YoY, and two-wheelers (2Ws) showed a strong performance, growing by an est. ~21.5% YoY. 3Ws continued to exhibit strong momentum, while commercial vehicles (CVs) recorded a robust 25% YoY growth across all segments (LCVs, M&HCVs and Buses). Tractors' sales continue to demonstrate remarkable performance and registered a volume growth of 29% YoY for top 2 players (M&M and Escorts) led by M&M which grew by 33% YoY, driven by favorable rural sentiment, supported by GST rate cuts and higher MSPs that have strengthened farm cash flows. Exports continue to shine during the month across OEMs. In domestic PVs, dispatches were strong across OEMs with Kia, Tata Motors, M&M & Maruti outperforming the peers, growing by 24%/ 22%/ 22%/ 21% YoY resp., while Maruti continues to gain market share (+102bps YoY to 41%). Toyota and Hyundai registered a modest performance. In domestic 2Ws, Hero, Royal Enfield, Honda, and TVS outperformed peers with growth of 30%/ 25%/ 23%/ 20% YoY resp.

On the domestic wholesale front, dispatches remained robust in the month of Nov, with leading manufacturers supported by sustained positive consumer sentiment, driven by improved affordability following tax and interest rate cuts, as well as a strong wedding season, that prompted OEMs to restock inventory. Wholesale volumes were further supported by healthy bookings for newly launched models. Exports remain a key driver for volume growth in the month. On the domestic retail side, volumes remained strong across PVs, 3Ws, CVs, and tractors, while 2Ws saw a decline. The robust retail volumes were driven by strong pipeline of undelivered festive bookings that spilled over from October due to logistics issues, supported by improved stock availability and the momentum from new model launches.

Looking ahead, the industry's upbeat trajectory is expected to carry forward in the near term, albeit at a slightly moderate pace. The uptick will be underpinned by new product launches (Venue, Victoris, Sierra, XEV 9S, e-vitara, Seltos New-Gen etc.), the ongoing wedding season, improved affordability due to recent GST, tax and interest rate cuts and strong rural demand. The rollout of the 8th Pay Commission from Jan '26 is also likely to lift discretionary consumption. Moreover, the mandatory ABS deadline is expected to remain unchanged, which should create a near-term demand surge in the 2W segment.

In the PV segment, Maruti Suzuki and Hyundai are expected to benefit from the ongoing demand recovery, underpinned by their dominance in the small and compact car categories, whereas M&M continues to be a key beneficiary in SUVs and tractors. In the 2W space, TVS, aided by its expanding e-2W portfolio and new launches, along with Eicher Motors, are well placed to capture incremental growth. (Note: we are Not Rated on the above stocks).
